

Bending reasons?

Someone does something for a worthy reason and others think he wanted to make a gain out of it.

E.g. he mowed his next door neighbour's lawn, he must want money from him.

- Describe a time when you have thought this way.

- Why do you believe that thinking this way may have caused you to arrive at decisions which really were not logical?

- What is one thing you could start doing to avoid thinking this way?
